ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.

Ben J. Ridgway Taken in by Springfield Police--Goes to Cincinnati.

Benjamin J. Ridgway, 23 years of age, was arrested Tuesday afternoon at his boarding house in Springfield, at the request of Cincinnati authorities, for forgery committed while in the latter city. Ridgway claimed to be a book keeper at the Western Union Telegraph office but this is denied. He was without money or baggage and refused to talk on the subject of his arrest.

Ridgway was sent to Zion City from Cincinnati by the Bookkeepers association to examine the books of the Dowie financial institutions and had been there about two months when he asserted his disbelief in the Dowie faith, and that Dowie was the greatest grafter in the world. Consequently he was expelled from the city, which gave him considerable newspaper notoriety at the time.

While examining the books he tipped the information to a Chicago paper at a good figure and this gave rise to trouble. His full report will appear in the New Year number of the Bookkeeper, published at Detroit. He claims to have found out the financial standing of Dowie and the City and reports that the whole institution is for the personal benefit of John Alexander Dowie, who is rated at $35,000,000. Ridgway, in his examination, claims to have found what was paid the high "moguls" of the church. He says the salaries range from $800 to $5000 per year and that some of the officers have no more belief in the church than the many thousands on the outside. A professor who left these parts for Zion City is said to receive $2200 per annum. The records show that the Northwestern Railroad company received over $250,000 from Zion City for mileage and freight, consequently they have put up a $40,000 depot.

Ridgway has been taken to Cincinnati to answer to the charge of forgery said to be on his uncle, Charles Ridgway.

Luck in Politics.

The late Chief Justice McCollum of Pennsylvania owed his election to a singular accident. He was nominated for the vacant judgeship by the Democratic state convention of 1888 in opposition to James T. Mitchell, the Republican candidate. There was then no chance of his election, but the death of one of the justices made another vacancy on the bench, and both Mitchell and McCollum were chosen. Lots were then cast for seniority of rank, as their commissions were to expire at the same time, January, 1910, and McCollum had the further luck of drawing the prize and so succeeded to the chief justiceship.

His Personal Memoirs.

A man of eighty years died in New York city the other day leaving written on a small sheet of paper the following: "Personal memoirs. At the age of thirty I gave up dancing, at forty my endeavors to please the fair sex, at fifty my regard of public opinion, at sixty the trouble of thinking, and I have now become a true sage, or an egoist, which is the same thing. I have never meddled in any marriage or scandal, I have never recommended a cook or a physician, consequently I have never attempted the life of any one."

Horseshoeing.

Robert Bonner was the man who started fancy prices for horseshoeing when he paid $100 for shoeing Dexter. There are expert blacksmiths who work only for owners of big stables and who travel with crack racing horses wherever they go. Some of these blacksmiths get $12,000 a year and expenses, besides a liberal present if the owner has had a lucky year. The blacksmith of a crack stable is constantly asked for castoff shoes from crack horses by persons who want to gild them and frame them "just for luck."

Decorated With Elk Teeth.

A dress owned by a Kiowa Indian squaw was sold in El Reno, Okla., for $1,600, and the purchaser thinks he was lucky to get it at that price. It is lavishly decorated with elk teeth, which are becoming almost as valuable as pearls, and the squaw, like many of her paleface sisters, thought that $1,600 was altogether too much money to be invested in one dress.

COUNCIL'S REGULAR MEETING.

Monday Evening, Results in the Discussion of the Orr Road Petition and Other Matters.

The regular monthly meeting of council was held Monday evening there being no special business before this body. One of the subjects up for discussion was the question in regard to Mr. J. R. Orr moving his fence on to what the corporation considers public highway. A committee was appointed to take legal steps and report Thursday evening. The matter will be handed over to the county commissioners for them to settle. Messrs. Gillaugh, Andrew and Bull were appointed on the committee.

The street committee reported that they were unable to get crushed stone and that the streets were needing some grading. The gravel of Mr. John Taylor was discussed, he asked 60 cents delivered. Messrs. Walker, Fields and Caldwell were appointed to examine quality and secure a lower price. As the streets are in need of repair and considerable work will be required, council again starts out to work out poll tax. The street commissioner reports only about 35 men who paid or worked out this tax and that there is about one hundred who have not, many of them refusing to perform such labor or send a man. While the Timmons case was dropped in Common Pleas court some weeks ago, it is the intention of the present administration forcing every eligible man to comply with the law. The street commissioner was instructed to again notify the parties and should they refuse give them the required number of days and enter suit. The members of council seem to be in favor of making a test case, even if it is necessary to carry it to the highest court. Should all this tax be worked out our streets could be put in first class condition without a great deal of expense.

Reports of the different committees were read and accepted. The treasurer's report showed that there was $1985.45 to the credit of the corporation. The monthly bills amounted to $588.16 of which $289 was the payment of a bond and interest held by Mr. John Niebet of Xenia. The bond was issued in 1897 for incurred indebtedness. Council recessed until Thursday evening.

The Voice From the Gallery.

Some years ago when the Carl Rosa Opera company were playing "Faust" at the Theater Royal in Dublin a voice from the gallery disturbed the harmony of the concluding scene and led to a speedier fall of the curtain than had been anticipated. It happened that the representative of Faust was as corpulent of person as he was sympathetic of voice, and the former characteristic led to the contretemps of his sticking fast in the trapdoor, being therefore unable to comply with Mephistopheles' final injunction to descend to the fiery region. Mephistopheles warbled forth his injunction more than once, but still Faust stuck where he was. A dead pause followed, broken by the kindly encouragement of one gallery boy to a friend among the gods: "LARRY, my boy, there's luck for us all; the place is full!"

Told at the Liars' Club.

"No sooner was I seated in the chair than the barber commented on the weather and directed a current of discourse into my ears.

"We ne comprehend pas," said I, with an inward chuckle, thinking his volubility would be checked.

"In very good French he started in afresh. I looked at him as if bewildered and then interrupted him by asking:

"Was sagen Sie?"

"He began to repeat in German all that he had been saying, when I shut him off with:

"Oh, talk to me with your fingers. I'm deaf and dumb!"

Made an Impression.

"I wonder," said Mr. Pechucks, the gifted tragedian, "who that man was that came to me after the play was over and told me my acting in the final scene had made him shed tears."

"I think," replied the manager, "that was the new dramatic critic of the Daily Bread."

The roast Mr. Pechucks got in next morning's issue of the Daily Bread seemed to indicate that the manager's impression was correct.

GOVERNMENT SURVEYORS.

Three government surveyors have been surveying in this section for several days, their object being to locate every road and dwelling and take a general survey of the country. These reports are forwarded to Washington, D. C. There are about three hundred surveyors in this state at the present time, while hundreds are at work in other states. It is stated that it will require years of time to complete the work. The surveyors, H. G. Laur, C. H. Moore and C. C. Gardner, are the men doing the work here. They have their headquarters at the Keyes hotel. As soon as bad weather sets in the work will be discontinued until spring.

Science has been at pains to proclaim that a cow treated with kindness gives more milk than one of equal capacity neglected or treated with harshness. Science sometimes does the unnecessary. It is not to this late date to demonstrate that kindness is the touch of nature which makes the whole world kin.

The Universalist church, through its general convention, has followed the example of the Episcopalian church in taking strong ground against the divorcee. It is to be hoped all churches and organs of public opinion will take similar action. The evil is a serious and menacing one and has been permitted to grow too long.

It is pleasing to see a big dry goods house with nerve enough to advertise American-made silks. It is time American women—and men, too—were realizing the fact that as good fabrics are manufactured on this side the water as ever were made abroad. The lost magic word, "imported," fast losing its value as a promoter of sales.

With the Alaskan boundary dispute out of the way, we shall probably never have another one with Canada. The settlement of the boundary line in the northeast occupied many years, and caused much friction, as did also that of the northwest later. If the Alaskan boundary is settled, it is not perceived how any similar dispute can arise in the future.

One of the first results of the new irrigation law is an attempted system of land grabbing. For this reason the land office at Great Falls, Mont., has been instructed to withhold from entry under the desert law all the 1,500,000 acres in that state lying south of the Missouri river. Many entries upon which patents have been issued will be suspended until investigated.

"Character is always known," says Emerson. "Thefts never enrich; alas, never impoverish; murder will speak out of stone walls." The least admiration of a lie—for example, the least vanity, any attempt to make a good impression, a favorable appearance—will instantly vitiate the effort. But speak the truth, and all nature and all spirits help you with unexpected furthence."

A physician has recently described a novel method of removing a fish bone that was lodged crosswise in a patient's throat. The bone was too low to be reached by any forceps at hand, and so the doctor held a string in the eye of a smooth button and had the patient swallow the button—edge-wise, of course. Then he drew the button back by the string, and the bone was promptly dislodged.

Prof. Felix Adler, of New York, in addressing the English visitors who are investigating our educational methods, hit the nail squarely on the head when he said: "The education that the English give to the elect we give to everybody, and therein is our strength." That is the American idea as to popular education summed up in the most concrete form. Every boy and girl in America is among the "elect" when it comes to a chance for learning.

The press correspondent at Fort Riley spoke of the recent review of 15,000 troops as "a military spectacle which it is doubtful if, in this country at least, was ever surpassed." He forgot the review at Washington, in May, 1895, of the victorious armies of Grant and Sherman, when 100 regiments of all arms were two days marching through Pennsylvania avenue. That was by far the greatest spectacle ever seen in this country, and it is not likely ever to be equaled.

Chief Justice Lora, of Delaware, who has taken such a decided stand against lynching, is opposed to capital punishment. "I would not take life for the commission of crime," he says, "but would put the criminal under such restraint as would protect the people and fire him the full measure of his day to work out such penance and reformation as all good influences might produce. Life is too sacred and too holy a thing to be taken. I would grant life so long as God spared each one of his creatures."

Most merchants will sell anything if there is profit in it. Not so with the leading manufacturers of shoes in New York. For philanthropic reasons only and to his considerable loss, he has recently taken patent leather shoes off his list. "Patent leather is practically airtight," he says in defense. "It prevents the foot from breathing and is the direct cause of untold misery. I shall no longer be a participant in the production of shoes and shoes which are injurious to the feet of the great toe, known commonly as bunions, or inflammation of the bursa."

A plant has been discovered in South America which contains a quantity of saccharine matter, to not fermentable and possesses an unusually saccharine taste. It is from eight to twelve inches high, and is considered of important value from an industrial standpoint on account of its natural sugar properties, which are of a high percentage. According to experiments made by the director of the Agricultural Institute of Assunção, the plant is said to yield a sugar which is from 50 to 60 times as sweet as ordinary cane. Cultivation of this plant may knock beet sugar.

THE CUBAN TREATY.

President's Message to the Extra Session of Congress.

He Urges Its Ratification and Deems Such Legislation is Demanded, Not Only by Our Interests, But by Our Honor.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The following message of the president was sent to the congress Tuesday:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have convened the congress, that it may consider the legislation necessary to put into operation the commercial treaty with Cuba, which was ratified by the senate at its last session and subsequently by the Cuban government. I deem such legislation demanded not only by our interest but by our honor. We cannot with propriety abandon the course upon which we have so widely embarked. When the acceptance of the Platt amendment, which required from Cuba by the action of the United States this government thereby definitely committed itself to the policy of treating Cuba as occupying a unique position in regards this country.

It was provided that when the island became free and independent republics she should stand in such close relations with us as in certain respects to come within our system of international policy, and it necessarily follows that she must also to a certain degree become included within the lines of our economic system. It is therefore, it would seem, possible for this country to permit the strategic value of the plan by any foreign power to be for this reason that certain limitations have been imposed upon her financial policy and that naval stations have been conceded by her to the United States. The negotiations as to the details of these naval stations are on the eye of completion. They are so situated as to prevent any idea that there is the intention ever to use them against Cuba or otherwise than for the protection of Cuba from the assaults of foreign forces, and for the better safeguarding of American interests in the waters south of us.

These interests have been largely increased by the consequences of the war with Spain, and will be still further increased by the building of the isthmian canal. They are both military and economic. The granting to us by Cuba of the naval station above alluded to is of the utmost importance from a military standpoint, and of the good faith of her in this respect, which Cuba has made great progress since her independence was declared. She has advanced steadily in every way. She already stands high among her sister republics, and is rapidly becoming a power to be reckoned with. She is entitled to the treatment by us, which she is entitled to as a free and independent nation. The United States cannot afford to neglect her. It is in our interest to give her the same advantages as great as those given to Cuba. Not an American interest is sacrificed in this. A large Cuban market is secured to our producers. It is a market which lies at our doors, which is open to us, and which is capable of great expansion, and which is especially important to the development of our export trade. It is a market which is open to us to refuse to take advantage of such opportunity and to force Cuba into making arrangements with other countries to our disadvantage.

This reciprocity treaty stands by itself. It is demanded of our honor and of our national policy as well as by our economic interest. It will do harm to no one. It is in the interest of our people as a whole, both because of its importance from a broad standpoint of international policy and because it concerns so intimately the rich Cuban market for our farmers, and the Cuban market for our manufacturers. Finally it is a guaranty of the good faith of our nation to the Cuban people, and a guaranty to the Cuban people that we will stand by our word. We have given our word, and we will stand by it. We will stand by the blood and the courage of our soldiers who fought for her in war; by the memory of our sailors who died for her in peace; and who started her so well on the path of progress. We will stand by her help her onward and upward, and in helping her we shall help ourselves. The foregoing considerations caused the negotiation of this treaty with Cuba and its ratification by the senate. They now with equal force support the legislation by the congress which by the terms of the treaty is necessary to render it operative. A failure to enact such legislation would be a direct insult to the reputation of the pledged faith of the nation.

I transmit herewith the treaty, as amended by the senate and ratified by the Cuban government.

GERMANIC MUSEUM.

Collection Sent by Emperor William Presented to Harvard.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 11.—In the presence of a select gathering of distinguished scholars and others who take a deep interest in matters of an educational nature, the Germanic museum at Harvard was formally opened Tuesday and the collection sent to it by Emperor William of Germany formally presented. The announcement of these gifts was made by Prince Henry during his visit to this country in March, 1892.

The exercises in the new lecture hall began at a stroke. Upon the platform were Prof. H. C. von Jagmann, the presiding officer; Baron von Dem Bussche-Haddenhausen, counsel for the emperor; and first secretary of the German embassy at Washington, representing the German ambassador; President Charles W. Eliot, Prof. Kuno Francis, curator of the Germanic museum association.

The address of Baron von Dem Bussche-Haddenhausen was of particular interest, for besides presenting the emperor's collection, he announced that a number of German scholars, officials and men of affairs had prepared a representation of German silver and gold work, which is to be given to the museum and also that Prof. A. C. Coolidge, of the historic department at Harvard, had given the university a library of ten thousand volumes on German history.

Berlin, Nov. 11.—An exhibition was opened Tuesday at the museum of the industrial art of the objects to be presented to Harvard's Germanic museum as supplemental to Emperor William's gifts. The contributions to the result of the efforts of Prof. Kuno Francke, of Harvard university, in interesting German artists, scientists and capitalists in the Germanic museum, as a means of displaying the fatherland's art treasures in the United States and strengthening the ties between the two countries.

It was decided to select the goldsmith's work of the 12th to the 17th century for illustration and illustrations of 15 cups of various designs, basins and dishes, were made by an electroplating process to compose the gift. The articles chiefly are from the work of Nuremberg and Augsburg goldsmiths of the period when this art was at maturity. Many of these objects are in possession of private collectors, municipalities and museums.

Emperor William has permitted the reproduction of several of the finest pieces in his collection, including the so-called emperor's cup of the 16th century, by Wenzel Jamitzky, of Nuremberg. The kings of Wurttemberg and Bavaria have also permitted copies to be made of some of their treasures. The largest group consisted of 16 pieces from the townhall of Lueburg, now in possession of the Berlin museum.

Among the famous pieces are the so-called Landschadenbund cup, from the museum of Graz, the Luther cup, presented to the reformer upon his marriage, by the Wittenberg town council; and the Corvinus cup, which King Corvinus of Hungary presented to the Vienna council in 1462. The reproductions are so successful that an expert scarcely can detect the difference between the originals and the copies. The reproductions will remain on exhibition here for a week and will be sent to Harvard in a fortnight.

CLAIMS AGAINST VENEZUELA.

Nearly All the Commissioners Have Wound Up Their Work.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The department's advice indicate that nearly all of the international claims commissioners have wound up their work at Caracas, the American commission having only two cases to consider. When these commissions conclude their work, the claims against Venezuela will await the decision of the Hague tribunal as to the order in which they are to be paid, that is, upon terms of equality with the claims of the nations that conducted the blockade of Venezuelan ports, or whether they are to lie in abeyance until these claims are completely met by the Venezuelan customs. Advice from The Hague indicate that the decision of the tribunal will not long be withheld.

MINERS OUT ON STRIKE.

More Than 10,000 in Colorado Struck Monday.

The Mine Owners Are Making Efforts to Continue Operations Under the Protection of a Guard—Trouble Will Likely Result.

Denver, Col., Nov. 12.—More than 10,000 national miners in Colorado went on strike Monday for an eight-hour day, increased wages and other concessions. The strike was ordered by the national officers of the United Mine Workers of America after the coal companies refused to confer with union representatives concerning the demands of the men. Of the 10,000 men, 6,000 are in the southern coal fields; 2,000 in the northern coal fields and 1,900 in Fremont county. One hundred mines have been closed. A few independent properties in the northern coal fields and elsewhere will not stop work, since the operators have granted an eight-hour day and an increase in wages. More than 1,000 miners will remain at work, according to reports from the affected regions. The announcement comes that 800 men have gone out in Coffey county. The other miners in that territory are negotiating with the mine owners.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron, the Victor and the Northern Coal and Coke Cos. are the largest producers. Nearly all of their property has been tied up by the action of the miners. However, they are making efforts to continue operations under the protection of a strong guard. There are about 140 coal miners in Colorado with an output of 1,000,000 tons of coal and about 1,000,000 tons of coke a year.

It will be the policy of the United Mine Workers to depopulate the various fields by sending the idle men and their families to Illinois, Indian territory, Missouri, Iowa and other places, where work can be secured for them. Some 5,000 tickets to these states have already been arranged for by the mine workers, and Monday hundreds of the strikers started to new fields. D. C. Evans, member of the executive board of the national organization, Indiana, said he was in possession of the financial end of the strike. Other members of the executive board are in Colorado and will have charge of the campaign during the struggle, one being stationed in the centers of each strike field. Residents of Denver and other cities found it impossible Monday to secure coal for their homes for some time. THE FALLS OF OHIO.

May Be Utilized to Generate Electric Power.

If Government Consent is Secured Capitalists Will Spend About $2,000,000 for Their Initial Power Plant at Louisville, Ky.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 11.—At the conclusion of a conference between capitalists representing Widener-Elkins interests and Maj. George M. Derby, United States engineer for this district, it was announced that the plan for harnessing the falls of the Ohio to generate power for a vast plant would be favorably recommended to the war department. The project for utilizing the great water power has been under consideration for some time. It was necessary, however, to first secure the consent of the war department to the plan and to demonstrate that navigation and certain riparian rights maintained by the government would not be interfered with.

Among those present at the conference were: Prof. Duls Duncan, president of the school of electrical engineering, Boston school of technology; John Birkinbine, Philadelphia engineer; and a representative of the United Gas Improvement Co.; W. Kelsey Schoepf, Cincinnati, president of the Cincinnati Traction Co.; Maj. George M. Derby, United States engineer; F. A. Joss, attorney, Indianapolis; Benetta Williams, Chicago engineer.

The capitalists representing the Widener-Elkins interests have for the past three months had engineers busy drawing up their plans. These plans were considered by Maj. Derby at the conference Tuesday, and after the meeting broke up it was announced that Maj. Derby would give a partial endorsement of them to the war department. Beyond this no information was given by those concerned.

It was learned, however, that if the final consent of the government is secured the capitalists will spend about $2,000,000 for their initial power plant, which will be of sufficient size to furnish electrical power and light, not only to Louisville, but to traction lines, and towns within a wide radius, covering part of Southern Indiana and Northern Kentucky. The plans considered Tuesday were drawn by Benetta Williams, engineer for the Chicago drainage canal.

London, Nov. 11.—Commander Peary, U. S. N., lectured before the royal Geographical society Tuesday night in the presence of Ambassadors Choate, Secretary White, and many other distinguished persons. After reviewing the previous attempts to reach the north pole, Commander Peary said his future plans were based on the belief that the Smith sound route was the only practicable one. He wished to win the pole for America because it was the last geographical prize the world had to offer and it was peculiarly an object of American pride and patriotism. America was now negotiating for the isthmus of Panama. The other natural and logical boundary to her destiny was the north pole. He hoped by winning the pole for his country to appropriately crown her four centuries of struggle, heroism and achievement.

ident Milwaukee, Wis., Business Woman's Association, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was married for several years and no children blessed my home. The doctor said I had a complication of female troubles and I could not have any children unless I could be cured. He tried to cure me, but after experimenting for several months, my husband became disgusted, and one night when we noticed the testimonial of a woman who had been cured of similar trouble through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, we went out and bought a bottle for me. I used your medicine for three and one-half months, improving steadily in health, and in a few weeks I became a child again. I cannot fully express the joy and thankfulness that is in my heart. Our home is a different place now, as we have something to live for, and I am so happy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Yours very sincerely, Mrs. L. C. Glover, 614 Grove St., Milwaukee, Wis." Shortly afterward he received a bill for $12, just about three times as much as he had been asked to

"When the butter won't come put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to work though no one has ever told why.

When mothers are worried because the children do not gain strength and flesh we say give them Scott's Emulsion.

It is like the penny in the milk because it works and because there is something astonishing about it.

Scott's Emulsion is simply a milk of pure cod liver oil with some hypophosphites especially prepared for delicate stomachs.

Children take to it naturally because they like the taste and the remedy takes just as naturally to the children because it is so perfectly adapted to their wants.

For all weak and pale and thin children Scott's Emulsion is the most satisfactory treatment.

We will send you the penny, I. e., a sample free.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitution cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

How to Press Cloth So as to Remove Folds and Wrinkles.

When woolen cloth is to be pressed, but not washed, it is sometimes the question of how best to give it the dampness that will enable the hot iron to remove folds and wrinkles. Good results are to be had by wringing a sheet out of warm water, spreading it on a large table, arranging upon it the pieces to be pressed, and then folding or rolling all in a bundle. After lying thus for several hours the cloth is evenly damp, but not wet, and all creases and folds soften to the best possible condition for the ironing. The pressing rather than the ironing must be done slowly with irons not too hot nor too cool, moving them just fast enough to prevent one from printing its outline on the goods. Hot enough to raise the steam, but not hot enough to scorch the wool, is right for the irons. Ladies' cloth treated thus loses every crease and the too clinging softness lent it by wear. Thinner goods are handled the same way with success. The process, of course, is that followed by all tailors and called "sponging," except that no pressing follows the dampness of new cloth, it being merely spread smooth and left to dry.

For a Girl's Room.

In furnishing her room a girl should bear in mind that quality, not quantity, is the keynote to beauty. She should decide on a color scheme and stick to it, or if she desires parts slightly from it let her go in the right direction and choose a color which corresponds well with the main color scheme. In the first place, she should avoid too many personal photographs—half a dozen of her dearest friends' photos and no more. Her room should contain at least one picture beautiful enough to raise her to a higher plane whenever her eyes fall upon it. She should be cautious in dealing with posters, bric-a-brac and gewgaws. Simplicity of hue and outline should be her main idea, striving rather to have a few good things than a great many inferior ones.

To Get Rid of "Old" Smell.

To remove a close, "old" smell from a room it is necessary to take up the carpet or matting if there should happen to be either. The carpet should be beaten and fumigated by letting it lie on the ground for several days, removing it at night. Finally it should be covered thickly with dry salt, allowed to stay in the sun for several hours and then swept thoroughly. Before replacing scour the floor in hot water and carbolic acid. The walls, if papered, should be stripped and washed with chloride of lime. If painted, scrub with carbolic acid soap. When dry have them repainted or papered. If all this is performed thoroughly there should be perfect freshness and cleanliness in place of the musty odor.

Return of the Sandglass.

The sandglass is again to be found as a picturesque dining table equipment, and the old world timekeepers look quite at home with the antique furnishings now in vogue. Three minute sandglasses accompany the bronze egg boilers now so popular for breakfast table use. These glasses are employed by many housewives at table when the cooking of dainty viands runs the risk of being spoiled by a fraction of a second under or over "doing." They are also elaborately mounted and adorn desks and even cabinets.—Washington Star.

Keeping Meats.

Meat should not be laid on the ice; as that draws out the juices. If fresh killed allow it to get chilled before putting in cold storage. Otherwise the animal heat is driven inside and causes fermentation, which is poisonous. Do not let chops and steak rest against one another, much less ham and steak. All meats and poultry require a cool, dry atmosphere. If necessary to hang them suspend with the choicest and tender parts down. Hang lamb and mutton by the shank and poultry by the feet.

To Remove a Cork.

Let both bottle and cork dry thoroughly, for a dry cork is smaller than a damp one. Take a piece of fine, strong twine, make a loop of it by holding the two ends, and then put the loop into the bottle, and move the bottle about till you get the string under the center of the cork at the neck of the bottle. Then give a careful pull, and the cork will come out.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

Instructions Obeyed, But Not in the Same Manner as Expected.

The janitor had thrown out the signs carelessly through the window. "Those peddlers and tradesmen don't have any sense," he said. "I see if these signs will do any good." For the janitor had his own troubles trying to make people accept his authority at its face value.

Behind the janitor came a youth in the toggery of the gridiron and carrying a football. He was, moreover, a youth with a keen sense of the humorous in all cases where some one else was the butt of the joke.

One of the nicely lettered signs, small, but neat—that hung from a cord over the janitor's shoulder, caught the youth's eye, and he chuckled.

"I ought to do it," he said. "A fellow ought to oblige a man whenever he can, and there's nothing like obeying the regulations. Besides, it's good practice."

He put the ball on the sidewalk, stepped back a few paces and made a running kick. The ball went true. It caught the janitor in the vicinity of the coat tails and nearly knocked him over. As soon as he regained his balance he turned angrily.

"Only following instructions," explained the youth as he picked up the ball. "Have to do it, you know, when you hang out a sign like that." The janitor sighed and shifted the sign so as to hide the lettering for it read:

"What are you moving over so far for?" asked the young man passenger on the air ship.

LIVER TROUBLES

"I had Theford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. It cured my liver after the best of the doctors. It is all the time. I take it."—MRS. C. L. MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Theford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

Theford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A recent package of Theford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

I used Theford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to equal it."—WILLIAM COFFMAN, Marquette, Mich.
